American Jerks

To The AMARILLO DAILY NEWS:

Panama tweaks our nose, Castro humiliates us as the mood strikes him and the Russians murder our fliers without any compunction whatever. In response, our State Department aesthetes hit back with "terse notes", wave their lace handkerchiefs and go through the motions of being angry. Now these dandies are real crowd pleasers; they know that a little noise and a flurry or two will quiet the restless natives. And so goes the sellout of America.

Yes, we're certainly on the spot — and we're there because of the biggest deadbeat of all; the average American. He prides himself in being intelligent, informed and terribly clever. Ever busy with self education, he fails to see that his country is being taken from him piece by piece and bit by bit.

It's this average jerk who remains drugged and passive while the Hillsmans, Yarmolinskys, etc. keep his eye off the ball and sell our country down the river.

It's the same jerk who thinks it positively hilarious that we have a comic opera Central Intelligence Agency which can't find its way out of a hay barn.

Yes, the average American is a 14 karat loser who has laughed away a terribly hard won birthright.

I guess that the loathsome Red Gus Hall's prediction of a Communist takeover in 1978 is about right. Give the jerk a little more bread and circuses, Gus, and you might be able to shave that date down to 1973.
